Abolish Tests, and to alter the Constitution of the Governing ^{A.D. 1871.}
Body in Trinity College and the University, Dublin.

WHEREAS it is expedient that the benefit of Trinity College and University of Dublin, and of the schools in the said University as places of religion and learning, should be rendered freely accessible to the nation :

- 5 And whereas by means of divers restrictions, tests, and disabilities many of Her Majesty's subjects are debarred from the full enjoyment of the same :

And whereas it is expedient that such restrictions, tests, and disabilities should be removed, under proper safeguards for the 10 good government of the said college and university as a place of religion and learning, and that certain alterations be made in the constitution and government of the same in order to render the said government more speedily accessible to all duly qualified persons :

- 15 Be it therefore enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows :

1. This Act may be cited as the University of Dublin Tests Act, ^{Short title.}
20 1871.

2. In the construction of this Act,—

The word "office" includes professorship, assistant or deputy professorship, public readership, prelectorship, lectureship, assistant lectureship, provostship, fellowship, studentship, tutorship, scholarship, and exhibition, and also any office or emolument not in this section specified, the income of which 25 is payable out of the revenues of the said university or college, or any of the schools therein, or which is held and enjoyed by any member of the same.
